No Saving!!

Daylight savings time is a real killer idea. That is it kills and cripples people two weeks a year with it's semi-annual jet lag effect. If you voted it in, or lobby or vote to keep it, you need to explain why it is more valuable than those people's lives and/or health.

Some argue that daylight savings time promotes tourism. Do you suppose that's why Hawaii is one of the states that doesn't have it? Maybe they already have more tourists than they want.

Then there's the argument that it somehow provides extra time for farmers to do their work in the summer. God, not some legislature, gives farmers more daylight. They can begin work as early in the morning as they choose, and work as late as they are able. Have you nay heard of a Harvest Moon?

I know that some politicians thing that the people that elected them are pretty dumb, and in some cases that might even be true. Most of us don't need some legislature to tell us what time to get up in the morning. If the legislature wants to open government office an hour earlier during the summer months, have at it. But please give the rest of us the freedom to do the same, or not, as we see fit, and judge best for our needs.. Let the uber tired high school students get an extra hour of sleep in the morning. We don't need you to tell us how to live our lives, and to make every decision for us.

I lived in Arizona for several years, and loved that they didn't do daylight savings. I worked for the federal government, which has offices in 6 time zones and yet seems able to get it's job done. I traveled a good deal and found the time differences of no particular consequence, since a little simple math, and watch adjustments solve the problem.
